Bank of Middle Tennessee.

The notes of the Planters' and Union Bank will be given for the notes of the Bank of Middle Tennessee, at MARR'S Brokers office, corner of Union and College streets.

Our city Post Master desires us to call the attention of Box owners to the importance of paying up their Box rents for the ensuing quarter, to day, as the law expressly prohibits him from placing mail matter in Boxes that are not paid for.

Mrs. Early, milliner, College street, opposite the Savanah House, has received recently a fine stock of Millinery Goods, &c., to which she invites the attention of the ladies. She trims bonnets with exquisite taste.

See the advertisement of Messrs. Hume & Reynolds. They sell to-day an extensive assortment of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods, &c. The sale commences at 9 1/2, A. M.

Mr. W. S. Eakin, one of Nashville's most experienced merchants, advertises in another column, Dry Goods at wholesale or retail. Buyers will do well to call on him. They may rely upon getting excellent Goods at reasonable prices.

A considerable number of women and children, together with some old men, Union refugees from North Alabama, arrived in this city Monday, and were quartered at the Convalescent Barracks. As we passed along Cherry street, late at night, we saw a number of these patriots, poor in purse but rich in principle and love of country, in their beds spread upon the ground, in front of the building, asleep, perchance dreaming of the once happy homes from which they are exiled, and of the good fortune in store for them in the Canaan they seek north of the Ohio. Did any of the hundreds of secession ladies, whose sympathies with the poor fellows who were accidentally killed or hurt there yesterday, caused them to congregate in the streets in the vicinity, feel a generous pang or noble impulse when they saw these worthy exiles of their own sex? How many of their faces were distorted by the ignoble sneer?

One of the most successful remedies of the age for a number of the "ills which human flesh is heir to," is the celebrated Chester Bitters, manufactured by Dr. J. C. BULL, of Louisville, Ky. We need not specify the different diseases which it cures or relieves. We may mention, however, that we have known it to be efficacious in a case of protracted neuralgia, which was fast undermining and breaking down the constitution of the patient. In this case it proved of the greatest benefit, and the sufferer feels under deep obligations to the medical science that found the remedy.

Dr. Bull is a physician of high standing, and a business man of unimpeachable integrity, prompt to fulfill all his engagements.

We are greatly obliged to Brown & Co., newsmen, College and Cherry streets, for a copy of "The Gold Seeker," a tale of California by GEORGE ALMAY, from the Press of T. B. Peterson & Bros., Philadelphia. This is a thrilling tale of life in the golden land of the Occident; and is stamped "as equal to Cooper's best."

Messrs. Brown & Co., have a great variety of readable novels in cheap form, and the latest newspapers and periodicals.

A couple of stables, in Edgefield, belonging to Mr. W. F. Marks, were burned Monday night at about 10 o'clock, supposed to be the work of incendiaries.

A fine assortment of staple and fancy Dry Goods can be found cheap, at T. L. ASHBIDGE, 49 College street.

Ladies' fine shoes of the best make; men and boys' boots and shoes, will be sold at the very lowest prices. Call on T. L. ASHBIDGE, 49 College street.

Fur and wool hats, for men and boys; wear; a great variety and cheaper than can be bought anywhere in the city at T. L. ASHBIDGE, 49 College street.

We will sell at our Auction Store this morning an unusually large and attractive assortment of staple and fancy Dry Goods, varieties, etc., consisting in part of Domestic Calico, (by the bolt and in dress patterns), a large lot of Cassimeres, Sateen, etc.; a fine assortment of Muslin DeLanes; beautiful Merinos; a splendid lot of Boots; a fine assortment of Dry Goods, Varieties, etc., etc. Be punctual at 9 1/2 o'clock.

BENEFIT OF MISS LOTTY HUGHES.—The admirers and friends of this charming comedienne will be gratified to learn that the entertainments at the New Theatre to-night are for her benefit. The splendid spectacle of the Seven Sisters will be repeated. The fine dramatic talents, the life and spirit of the accomplished beneficiary, are well displayed in the course of this popular piece; but, the frequency of its repetition, must not be taken as a confession that when she has been seen in it, nothing further need be expected of her. This would be a grave mistake and very unjust. Her line of characters embraces such as the Widow Delmaine, Bob Nottles, Margery, Sarah Blount, Mehitabel Ann, Mrs. Swansdown, and other leading parts in comedy and farce, and wherever she has played them, her reputation as an able and versatile comedienne is established upon a most substantial foundation. It is to be hoped that, before she leaves Nashville, our theatre going population may have the pleasure of seeing her in something else than the "sensational." She does not need the meretricious aids of glittering scenery and plate glass to achieve success. There is a freshness, vitality, and vivacity in her impersonations which impress all beholders, whilst her face, so lovely, yet so full of mirth, the outflowing of an innocent heart, her agreeable manners, and elegance and grace of mien, complete the fascination. We trust that she will have a benefit to-night worthy of her.

THEATRE.—Miss Marion MacCarthy and Mr. Vincent have now appeared twice at the old theatre, and are established favorites. The former we had not, until Monday night, seen for some years. In personal appearance she has changed but little; looking somewhat thinner, but not the less lady-like and intellectual. There is a marked improvement in her acting, and her vocalization, which exhibits never richer or sweeter. It is a divine gift, and divinely does she use it. Mr. Vincent is a polished comedian. He does not sink the gentleman of wit and humor into the buffoon; nor does he lack the versatility which makes each character he impersonates distinct and picturesque.

With the advantage of the assistance of Allen, and Hamilton, and other gentlemen of the company, and Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. Stewart, and Miss Lyon, [Mrs. Bernard, everybody's favorite, has a respite for the moment] during the engagement of this couple, we shall have the legitimate comedy in perfection.

To-night the entertainments begin with "The Ghost of Lindenberg," in which Miss MacCarthy appears as Margaret. This play is an excellent one, and well cast. It has been played heretofore under the title of "Raymond and Agnes," or the "Bleeding Nun." After this play, songs by Mr. Stewart, and the afterpiece of "Object of Interest;" Barney O'Dwyer, Mr. Vincent; Fanny Gribbles, Miss MacCarthy. A splendid bill. "The Ghost" appears in the first piece.

A terrible accident happened yesterday at the Convalescent Barracks, corner of Cherry and Church streets. A large number of the rebel prisoners, captured near Chattanooga, were quartered there, occupying the fourth and fifth stories. At the signal for breakfast, the prisoners made a rush for the breakfast room, having to go down several flights of steps. The steps leading from the fourth to the fifth story, gave way under the accumulated weight, and fell with the men on them to the floor immediately underneath, which also gave way, and did also the floor next in succession, and together with two other flights of steps, the whole falling in a mass on the second floor. A large number of the prisoners went down with the falling timbers. The fall was altogether three stories, about forty feet. It would have been a miracle had there been no loss of life, under these circumstances. From the best information we can gather, we state the number of killed at 6, two of whom were killed outright, and four died whilst being conveyed to hospitals. The number of wounded is reported at 96, of whom 15 are badly hurt. This is a very heavy loss.

The wounded men were conveyed to military hospitals, where every attention necessary to the alleviation of their sufferings and the healing of their wounds will be awarded them. The principles of humanity which govern the medical men and nurses of the Federal hospitals know no distinction of friend and foe, when human misery calls for aid.

BY TELEGRAPH.

MIDNIGHT DESPATCHES.

CAIRO, Sept. 29.—The steamer Live Oak with dates to the 26th from below arrived. It is reported in Memphis that five thousand Confederate troops are within ten miles of that place. The report is undoubtedly false.

CULPEPPER, Sept. 29.—There has been no movement in our army for the past week.

CAIRO, Sept. 29.—The rumor of Gen. Herron's repulse and retreat to Morgan's bend is untrue.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Gen. Slocum has withdrawn his resignation at the President's request.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The Herald's special says the rebels have concentrated a force of ten thousand at Mount Jackson, to make a raid through Shenandoah Valley.

Heavy artillery firing was heard at Bealton, supposed to be at Raccoon Ford.

Rumors were afloat in Washington last evening, to the effect that the Union forces in Georgia and Tennessee had met with serious disaster; but if the Government had received unfavorable news it had been kept profoundly secret from those who generally get such intelligence.

New Orleans papers of the 20th inst., say that the rebel blockade steamer Alice Vivian has been captured.

Another female bread riot took place at Mobile on the 4th of September. The Governor had ordered the 17th Alabama to put down the disturbance. They refused. The Mobile Cadets, essaying to put it down were forced to fly from the women. Peace was finally restored, but the rioters threatened to burn the city, if not relieved.

The Richmond Examiner of the 26th says, "After two distinct attempts to capture Chattanooga, the Federals still hold it, and are strengthening that strong position. Meanwhile, the situation in Northern Virginia is becoming critical. The Federals are preparing for a general attack on the Rapidan, and are massing forces at Culpepper."

The Washington correspondent of the New York Post says, reverse in Northern Georgia compels the Government to raise more troops than contemplated. Another draft will certainly take place; the two drafts expected with volunteering to give 300,000 men by January 1st. No unfavorable news from any quarter.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The rebels captured two schooners on the Chesapeake, and the Government schooner Alliance, laden with provisions.

Cotton excited, 83; gold quiet, 43.

PORTSMOUTH, Sept. 29.—Atlanta advices to the 26th say no further fighting. On the 25th Rosecrans sent two flags of truce, asking permission to bury his dead and relieve his wounded, but Bragg rejected both of them.

CHARLESTON, Sept. 25.—All quiet this morning.

LEAVENWORTH, Sept. 29.—Col. Moss, being authorized by Gov. Gamble to arm men, has armed mostly returned rebel soldiers and men under bonds, and is driving Union men out of Missouri. Perfect terror reigns in Platte county. It is reported Kansas is to be made a department under Gen. Curtis.

Western Arkansas advices say rebels Caffray and Hunter encamped at Cowskin Prairie, Mo., with — thousand men. Main body of the rebel army said to number twenty five thousand at Arkansas. Gen. Cabell with Texas troops and Arkansas conscripts joined them.

The powder mill at Arkadelphia, containing over one hundred thousand kegs of powder, exploded on the 16th. This is regarded by the rebels as almost fatal. Great dissatisfaction exists against Kirby Smith.

Gen. Binn is organizing new Kansas regiments at Fort Scott, which he expects to lead to Texas in a few days. Negroes are arriving in large numbers to join the Kansas colored regiments.
